Plot:

Charlie is a freshman entering high school after being released from a mental health care institution. Starting school he is shy, socially awkward, friendless and alone, till he meets two seniors named Sam and Patrick who happen to be half brother and sisters. As Charlie grows to be friends with them, is introduced to Mary Elizabeth and Alice from the help of Patrick. Also, Charlie starts to become more open to everyone and reveals what made him be the way he is, which is his best friend had committed suicide in the summer before school. Charlie grows to fall in love with Sam but he doesn't want to tell her and ended up dating Mary Elizabeth which has a unfortunate outcome. Forcing him to stay away from the group for awhile, the isolation causes him to sink back into depression and experiences flashbacks of his Aunt Helen that had died when he was younger. As time passes they all end up being friends again and got over what happen. Then at the end when all his friends have left to college he has a mental breakdown causing him to almost commit suicide.

Genre: Is drama and funny because throughout the movie charlie is introduced to new things students do in high school and the troubles that go along with beginning high school.

Tagline: "we are infinite" is important to Charlie and Sam because they don't want to ever forget the memories they had together she will be going to college while Charlie continues high school.
